PROFILE

I am a Systems Engineering student and self-taught full-stack developer with 5 years of hands-on experience in creating dynamic and responsive web applications. Specializing in React, Tailwind CSS, and Express.js, I have a proven track record of building efficient and scalable solutions. My projects, including a comprehensive institutional web management system, highlight my technical expertise and creative problem-solving skills. Driven by a relentless passion for coding and an insatiable thirst for learning, I thrive in both solo and team environments.
